CONSPIRE COMPLIANCE

Everything was not as it seemed.

How did humanity get to this fucking point in the evolutionary process?

This story is either going to be a thought-provoking, evocative gem – or rubbish.

My money is on drivel eventually turning into gem.

The Illuminati, the elite, and the World's powerbrokers masterminded a plan to save the planet and save themselves. Diabolical, to say the least, the program contained several targets of concern scheduled for elimination. It had become abundantly clear that the Earth's population could not be sustained – seven, eight, nine... billion people were placing all life in jeopardy. Food production and resources had long passed their peaks, and now the only way to continue was to cull the population, to bring it back down to manageable levels: but how?

Leaking the scientific community's findings to the masses would most certainly create mass hysteria and panic. After several summits of the G8, which were met with increasingly violent protests as the situation became direr. Covert and extreme plans were set in motion, awaiting for the go-ahead of President Bosch or the World's Commander in Chief (in case of extreme circumstance): Gerry Deluxe. Literally, the Elite sat in waiting for the President or Gerry to issue the order, to press the proverbial button and commence the beginning of a new world.

Between 2009 – 2115 a catastrophic problem arose. Our planet was on a collision course with despair. Like all other creatures, mankind was on the trail to extinction as it consumed every resource until life could no longer exist.

First, oil, next atmosphere, then the food supply --- mass production had created obesity and shortened lifespan (a manufactured reality).

Medical science offset this part of the plan by increasing the lifespan of those the goal was to subtract.

War, global warming, disease, water shortages, the death of our oceans, the disappearance of bees, food shortages and increasingly violent storms (all manufactured) were designed to create an atmosphere of fear – all working to perfection, but not fast enough. Drastic was at the forefront.

The population continued to expand, nine... ten billion by 2116. Contentment was gone, humans had become a parasite, and the Earth was preparing to exterminate. Evil consumed society as a society lost its way.

The creativity of thought and entertainment was a thing of the past as LA was the target of the militant attack on the States.

Life became more about just existing than fantasy.

Travel was only permitted within your sector.

Immigration ceased. America was now in command—without verbal or physical resistance. The militant attack had handed the Americans the World on a platter. The illusion of global preservation was now in their control. Manipulation and sanity were no longer required as fear had replaced all reasoning.

Gerry Deluxe was rushed to command after the catastrophic clashes of "Holistic Religious Factions." Which had created a travel-free world after the nuclear strikes against American interests had killed hundreds of thousands of American citizens. Including President Bosch off the western seaboard of the United States in 2116. Gerry was the Christian Worlds' – mutually selected leader in case such a horrific event took place. His appointment was immediate, and his actions were strong, instantaneous and without a shred of remorse. The ME country, which intelligence cited as the perpetrators of the attacks, was instantly and with excessive force wiped off of the face of the Earth, and anyone who freely spoke out against these measures, was with haste, removed from existence as well. A New World was to be created.

On April 20th, 2117, with great remorse, Gerry Deluxe reached for the button to put into motion the destruction, and the beginning of the new World.

His face hardened, and sickness entered the pit of his stomach. There was no turning back. He had been called upon to set the elimination of nine billion lives in motion. Gerry nodded to his co-creators, turned, and retreated to his office. In the office, he hugged his wife, Ophelia, gave her a meek kiss, poured a scotch, lit a cigar, and looked to the sky above, uttering:

I'm sorry. I am not God. I had no choice.

He paused and then continued

I am not God.

He then sat down, cupped his hands over his face, and began to cry.

ONE GOVERNMENT
(CONFIDENTIAL)

Phases necessary for the continuation of man.

1. Contaminate the food supply. Initially (2007), do tests on the supply of pet foods, upon completion of the experimentation, expand the experiment to include the supply of grains, vegetables, and chickens in third world nations. If successful, expand to include select regions of significant countries (targeting primarily the poor). All efforts are undetectable, and the media will participate as pawns to manipulate the population by releasing contradicting reports.
2. Increase terrorist activity, and in response, use deadly force to drum up support for the unbeknownst, scripted war measures. The co-collaborators are Middle Eastern political leaders and the fundamentalist religious leaders who oppose Catholicism. Divide and conquer the populace by identifying common enemies (see section: 7b)
3. Use Climate Change to send the World into hysteria as hurricanes, floods, heatwaves, and flooding create a mass exodus from the coastal areas. Tornadoes and fierce winters forced the fleeing masses back to the newly formed coastlines. Intense fighting ensues as they fight to leave sectors, and survival becomes paramount.
4. Contaminate the water supply.* Alternating between droughts and flooding.
5. With the combination of these factors firmly in place creates widespread, media-supported panic, resulting in man destroying man as the food they fight for and need for existence is used as a tool to eliminate them.
6. THE FINAL PHASE: Once fear has become the new world order. Offer a cure, a vaccine, to end the agony and speed the recovery. Again, with the aid of the media – offer the surviving and adapting population, though ill, life. Report of mandatory mass inoculations to derail the inevitable, deceptively, the vaccine provides the opposite, a slow calm and a humane end to the tragedy, Human Life. The end results being: nine-billion unsuspecting life forms snuffed out and one billion select survivors moving forward.

Executed with a heaviness of heart, remorse, for the continuation of man

...as witnessed in the presence of The Lord, agreed upon by the leaders of the World.

ONE PROBLEM

Mother earth is pissed and has a plan of her own. Rebirth is in order, and one billion is not part of the plan.

SELECTED BY A SPECTRAL ENTITY

Five-hundred-eighty-five survivors. After extensive testing and a laundry list of factors were taken into consideration. The fortunate selected humans were to be lifted off the face of the Earth and then returned to it, once Earth had been reclaimed by Gaia, to begin the life process again.

Gerry Deluxe happened to be one of the chosen ones. Each of the fortunate survivors of the END OF DAYS was to be returned to Earth with no recollection of the events of Earth's final days.

Their hard drives wiped clean.
