

LINDSAY WINCHERAUK

ON THE SLUSH PILE

MY SISTER IS MY MUM

MY LIFE ON THE SLUSH PILE

A story about finding yourself after accidentally discovering your life started with a lie.

Not every day do you meet someone who watched both of his parents die from The Big C and laid them to rest, only to discover sixteen years later that they weren't his parents after all!

It's like being reborn as a whole different person.

ABOUT A BOY

A boy is born in a secret place. A dark place. A sad place.
His Mother is his Sister. Making her his Sister + his Mother.

His Father is his Grandfather.

His Grandmother is just his Grandmother.

His Brothers used to be just Brothers. But then it is discovered they might be Uncles as well.

That turned them into Brunkles.

His Sisters used to be just Sisters. But then it is discovered they might be Aunts as well.

That turned them into Sisaunts.

The boy is never meant to know the truth because his birth brings with it, shame.

How could any of them be, okay?

Especially, the boy and his Grandmother?

LOOSE ENDS
LOOSE ENDS

AUTHOR'S NOTE
AUTHOR'S NOTE

AUTHOR'S NOTE

VANCOUVER BRITISH COLUMBIA

13 DECEMBER 2021

DEAR READER

Now what?

This can't be the end of us, can it?

Do we ever get to meet Elmer, your father? You might ask.

What about Trish?

One day when you were out with Wayne, you ended a conversation with: Wayne it's about Trish.

Is it fair to leave us hanging?

452

OMG, is your ~~sister's~~ mother Bernice, okay? Do you reunite?

To read more of my continuing saga, you will have to stay tuned for the sequel: Glue.

Glue addresses many of these unresolved issues, maybe resolving the odd one?

By continuing down the delightful paths of life, my life just seems to get richer every step of the way, regardless of the crap thrown at me!

Here's a sneak peek:

I wait in my car in the parking lot at Earl's Restaurant on Fir Street. The rain was pelting down as a windstorm rattled the city. The windows of my car are draped in a dark, thick mist. I heard three taps on the driver's window; I rolled it down – a tall, sturdy-looking, older man is standing in the unrelenting rain. The wind is howling. He looks at me and smiles; his eyes are peaceful. He calmly says, "Lindsay, are you going to sit in there all day?"

I was meeting my father for the first time.

In Glue, I step out of my universe when I get involved as a critical player in the first Hate Crime in Canadian Legal History and become a public figure despite myself.

AUTHOR'S NOTE

I believe the UNIVERSE is talking to us. We just need to pay attention to the signs it sends. The guidance these messages deliver helps us to find clarity. It's not always easy to read the signs or stay focused on the right kind of path, but I think we must at least try!

Just when you think you have the world figured out, life has a way of knocking you down. If you find the strength to pick yourself up and dust yourself off, you may have an epiphany and realize you don't know squat. And maybe, that's the way it's supposed to be.

Maybe we are not supposed to figure IT out?

I think the most important thing is never to quit trying. Trying is necessary for finding out who we are.

It's time to go. I'll leave you with this: The road behind had its share of potholes, poor choices, blind corners, the occasional flat, at times several at once.

I survived!

Let us travel the roads ahead with happiness and joy. It's our responsibility to do so if we want to live our lives to the fullest. I implore you to learn to find joy in life – despite the occasional bump.

It sucks when a tire goes flat when you're travelling down life's roads, but nothing beats the satisfaction of yanking the jack out of the trunk, wrestling the lug nuts off the car, throwing on the temporary spare, and moving on to what's NEXT!

All the Best,

Lindsay

16 JULY 1960 - 21 OCTOBER 2006 - 13 DECEMBER 2021 →←→

WHO IS LINDSAY WINCHERAUK?

Lindsay Wincherauk is a fearless writer. He has published two books and has had more than eighteen OPEDs appear in major commuter newspapers. Lindsay wasn't born with a silver spoon in his mouth. His father (who wasn't his father) worked as a mechanic. His mother (who wasn't his mother) worked as an excellent chef in a diner. In fact, his birth was in a secret place where |society deemed| unfit mothers were sent to give birth in isolation – shading families from shame. If the babies survived being born, usually, they were sold to wealthy Americans or adopted out to farm families.

Lindsay's life began with a lie.

Despite Lindsay's perilous beginnings, starting with deception, Lindsay knew no better and went through life excelling at things, usually in two-year stints. Be that athletics (hall of fame, record holding, one-eyed quarterback), scholastically, career-wise (generating more than $70 million in revenue for one company), socially, + without question: creatively!

Lindsay's challenging beginning instilled in Lindsay heaping doses of compassion and empathy. Lindsay's life starting out as a lie gave him a keen sense to spot BS from miles away. It also provided him with a dry sense of humour and an understanding those born with silver spoons in their mouths will never be self-aware enough to understand (or admit) their good fortune.

461

During Lindsay's work career, he was well-liked by all coworkers. Lindsay was also well respected by his diverse collection of clients, developing several fantastic friendships, primarily because Lindsay is known for his unflinching integrity and ability to hold conversations on most topics.

Lindsay's life mantra is:

The most valuable part of life is the fabulous people we meet during our journeys. If you treat people with respect (leaving judgment at the door), and more importantly, by opening doors for those less fortunate or who can't speak up for themselves, you are living a good, compassionate life. Making money at all costs is not the only thing mattering. Life can be difficult + devastatingly unfair.

Lindsay believes sharing vulnerability is what makes us human. Lindsay will never shy away from being honest about his pain.

Lindsay also believes we must stand up for ourselves, + more importantly, for those who are too burdened by the injustices of life, they can't find the strength to stand up for themselves.

SOME THINGS LINDSAY IS MOST PROUD OF ARE WHEN:

- A sixty-year-old employee of his, who had entered a point of life where life had become more struggle than joy (it happens to all of us as we age), said to Lindsay, “I must thank you. I’ve listened to how you treat people, + by listening, I’ve learned so much about compassion and patience. Thank you. I consider you a great friend.”
- Another employee who was struggling with addiction thanked Lindsay for his kindness, presenting Lindsay with a Christmas card from him and his girlfriend. Tucked inside the card: lottery tickets.

LINDSAY WINCHERAUK, compassionate, empathetic, well-read, kind, blessed with unflinching integrity, humour in balance, loved by coworkers + friends alike.

Lindsay will always stick up for the underdog. Lindsay understands there are countless older people suffering job loss because COVID gave some companies an opportunity to – Lindsay thinks it is essential to draw attention to this life-threatening issue by being the voice for those too broken to speak up for themselves.

462

Lindsay is currently pitching four manuscripts to publishers and literary agencies. One of the manuscripts (he can’t talk about) will blow the roof off the predatory practices of – Lindsay is writing relentlessly and is also pitching OPEDs and short stories, fiction, + non to literary magazines around the globe.

Lindsay has appeared on Breakfast Television, radio programs in Montreal, + several others in the Vancouver area. Lindsay has also been a featured guest on CKNW + CBC, both on several occasions. And Lindsay was a vital witness of a Hate Crime. This led to the first Hate Crime conviction in Canadian legal history, resulting in him being a speaker at an Enough is Enough Rally (anti-violence rally) with dignitaries, politicians, law enforcement, and community leaders in front of a crowd of approximately five thousand.

Lindsay was the #1 MIXED-TAPE DJ at the UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN for most of the nineteen-eighties, a fact bringing him joy.

Lindsay resides in Vancouver.